

Yes! I will join the Friends and support the Johns Hopkins Libraries.

- | | |
|---|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Sheridan Society - $5,000 and above | <input type="checkbox"/> Sustaining Friend - $500 |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Benefactor - $2,500 | <input type="checkbox"/> Supporting Friend - $250 |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Dean's Circle - $1,000 | <input type="checkbox"/> Contributing Friend - $125 |
| | <input type="checkbox"/> Friend - $75 |

PLACE
STAMP
HERE

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

E-mail Address: _____

Payment information

Enclosed is my check made payable to:

The Friends of the Libraries

Please charge my: American Express Visa MasterCard

Account No. _ _ _ _ | _ _ _ _ | _ _ _ _ | _ _ _ _

Name on Card _____

Signature _____

CID Code (last three digits on back of signature panel:)_ _ _

For AMEX, first four digits on front of card: _ _ _ _

Other Forms of Contributions

This gift can be matched by my company.

Enclosed is the completed form.

Stock (Please call 443.997.8120 for more information)

To give online, please go to

<https://www.library.jhu.edu/friends/join.html>

Please send me more information on:

Becoming a member of the Libraries' Legacy Circle through bequests and other planned giving opportunities.

The Sheridan Libraries' fiscal year ends June 30.

Thank you for your gift.

JOHNS HOPKINS
UNIVERSITY

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARIES
JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY
3400 NORTH CHARLES STREET
BALTIMORE MD 21218-2696

“Libraries provide tools for learning, understanding and progress. They preserve the heritage of our society and our nation. They are a laboratory of human endeavor. They are a window to the future. They are a source of hope. They are a source of self-renewal. They are the symbol of our community with mankind. They represent the link between the solitary individual and mankind, which is our community.”

—Vartan Gregorian,
President, Carnegie Corporation of New York

Make a difference,
Become A Friend

Become a Friend
of the Johns Hopkins University Libraries

Johns Hopkins University
Baltimore, Maryland

Join the Friends of one of the nation's premier research libraries

History

Established in 1931, the Friends of Johns Hopkins University Libraries is one of the oldest Friends groups in the nation, and an invaluable source of support for the library and its related mission—advancing research, teaching, and intellectual growth at Johns Hopkins and within the broader community.

When you join the Friends of the Libraries, you become part of a discerning group of individuals who share founding university president Daniel Coit Gilman's belief that “there is no such thing as a great university apart from a great library.”

Friends of the Libraries pursue their mission through several initiatives, including

- Sponsor unique literary programs and exhibitions
- Develop innovative new services and digital initiatives
- Acquire books, journals and multimedia
- Enhance library facilities
- Integrate library resources into classroom instruction

The Friends play a pivotal role in enhancing the quality of the Libraries' collections and fostering the development of innovative new services and digital initiatives. With a distinguished record of support for over 75 years, the generosity of the Friends helps ensure that Johns Hopkins remains in the forefront of American research libraries. —Winston Tabb, Sheridan Dean of Hopkins Libraries

The Sheridan Libraries

When the Johns Hopkins University opened in 1876, the campus comprised two buildings in downtown Baltimore, near the George Peabody Library. Faculty and students relied heavily on the Peabody Library's research collections for their studies until the university's move to the Homewood campus in 1915, when the first university library was established in Gilman Hall. The Gilman collections grew steadily to support research and teaching in arts and sciences, engineering, and education.

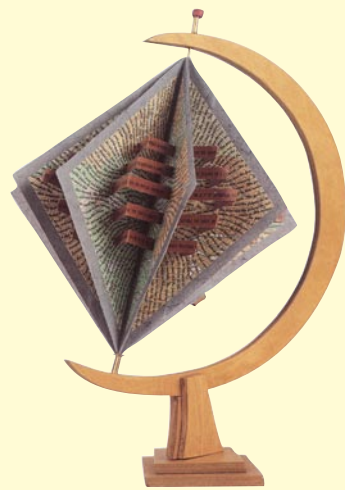

The Milton S. Eisenhower Library opened in 1964. Named for the eighth president of Johns Hopkins, the Eisenhower Library centralized the collections that had developed since the university's founding. When it was dedicated in November of that year, the library held 1.1 million volumes, more than five times the number of volumes that the Gilman library held when it opened.

In 1998 the Eisenhower Library and its special collections were rededicated as the Sheridan Libraries, reflecting the extraordinary generosity of library benefactor and alumnus Champlin Sheridan (A&S '52) and his wife, Debbie.

- Milton S. Eisenhower Library
- Albert Hutzler Reading Room
- Hodson Reading Room
- Montgomery County Campus Library
- John Work Garrett Library
- George Peabody Library

Today, with over 2.8 million volumes and more than 36,000 print and electronic journals, the Libraries employ the latest technology to offer access anytime and anywhere, supporting Hopkins' academic programs worldwide.

When you become a friend your support enables the Libraries to...

Acquire books, journals and multimedia

Enhance library facilities

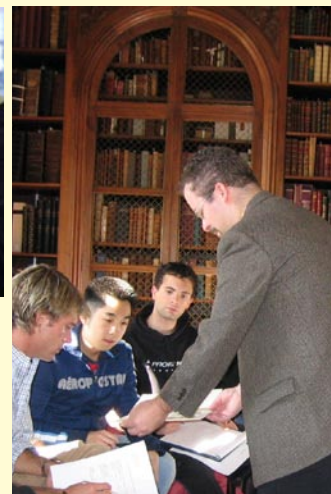

Sponsor unique literary programs and exhibitions

Develop innovative new services and digital initiatives

Integrate library resources into classroom instruction

Visit the Sheridan Libraries at www.library.jhu.edu

Join now and make the difference for future generations

Benefits

Friends at all giving levels receive:

- Invitations to special events, exhibits and tours
- Subscription to Ex Libris, the Library newsletter

Friend ($75)

Contributing Friend ($125)

Supporting Friend ($250)

Sustaining Friends ($500+)

- Insider's E-News letter from the Sheridan Dean
- Borrowing privileges at the Eisenhower Library

Dean's Circle ($1,000+)

- Invitations to special tours of distinguished area libraries and private collections

Sheridan Society Members ($5,000+)

- In recognition of their commitment to the Libraries, Sheridan Society donors' names are inscribed on the donor wall in the Eisenhower Library.

For additional information about the Friends programs call the Library development office at 410.516.8327, or visit the Friends, www.library.jhu.edu/friends/index.html.

